RISING to the CHALLENGE

ou face the first day of school with feelings of both anticipation and uncertainty. Hurrying from building to building, searching through your pockets, you hope to find the scrap paper containing your schedule; then you rush to find your classroom. This is the first of the many challenges that you will overcome throughout the school year. As the year progresses you will pull all-nighters to finish English and History papers or to study for tests. The result of less and less sleep is that being on time for morning meeting becomes more and more difficult. Of course you will also encounter some of the best times of your life. When you ace your first math test, beat Brooks, win a part in the play, and meet your best friend for lunch, you begin to realize that school life can be rewarding. These are a few of the many hurdles and accomplishments Governor Dummer Academy offers as you find yourself Rising to the Challenge.

RISING TO THE OCCASION

t's the first Gulld of the school year and from past experience you know anything is possible. The music is extremely well-played and the comedy is hilarious that you and your friends decide to dance up by the stage to bring the roof down on Thompson Auditorium. After spending a good half-hour of painting red and white all over your face and making posters, you learn that the spectator buses are not coming to take you and your friends to the Varsity Men's Hockey game at Thayer Academy, This does not prevent you from cheering on your home team because instead you pile into a day student's car with directions and hope you arrive before half-time. The life at Governor Dummer continues to rock but to the beat of the school's motto "Non Sibi Sed Allis," Not For Self But For Others, as the whole community pulls together to host Special Olympics in the fall. As you pile into a bus on Martin Luther King Day to clean a Boys Club. help out at the YMCA or spend time with senior citizens, you learn that serving others is an ongoing adventure. Awareness of social issues is also a large part of student life and AIDS awareness advocate and victim Micheal Quercio helps you to gain an insight on the AIDS epidemic during a convocation. You discover that being a student at Governor Dummer involves more than going to class and hanging out with your friends but is about being a part of a large family that is continuously Rising to the Occasion

School's In Session

Welcome back to another year of pasta, late nights, morning meetings, and short absences! Yes, it's that time of the year. The chapel bell rings to remind us we should have been at the first full school meeting an hour ago. But, as we sit and sweat in the book distribution lines watching our tans fade away, we realize our ruleless summer of living by the night watchman's schedule and having an endless amount of weekends is over. Say good-bye to the days of not knowing what time it is or, for that matter, the day of the week. Hello, stress!

You must admit, opening day can be a blast if you sit back and watch. Clueless freshmen wander around the opening day picnic trying to remember what their big brothers and sisters look like. Pre-Season athletes grunt their way through practices, scolding themselves for vegging on everything, but vegetables, including three full months of M.T.V. and fast food. Classmates return with more or less hair and a few inches tacked on to them (either way).

The best part of opening day is when a new student jumps in the middle of your first period math class and says, "This isn't Mrs. (the person checks his schedule) Vogel's class." The teacher responds, hiding a smile, "She's on the other side of campus."

Getting to know one another

Unity Weekend is held on the first weekend of the school year. In past years, this weekend was referred to as Leadership Weekend, but with the guidance of this year's Senior class, the faculty have renamed the weekend to better suit its purpose. The Seniors believe a class needs to bond with one another before being leaders. This is a time for everyone to learn about themselves. their classmates and the community in which we live. The idea behind the activities is for each class to develop skills that will assist them in making decisions as a whole, not just as individuals.

Senior Spirit Night

The term "pep rally" originated in ancient Rome. when before battles, the young warriors were doused in peppercorns to bid them luck in the upcoming fight. The ceremony took place around a large open fire, over which dolls constructed to resemble the enemy were burned in effigy on spits as a raving crowd looked on. While G.D.A. may not have fully adopted the tradition, the Fall 1994 gathering did have a raving crowd, goaded on by hosts Mark Graves. Judy Sethna, Brian Crowe and Jeff Jassmond. As Mark worked the crowd into a frenzy, many ridiculous games such as Cubby Bunny and the Saltine Thing were carried out. Men's Varsity Soccer stole the show however, taking first place in the skit competition, narrowly edging out a somewhat rightfully upset Varsity Field Hockey Team. Better luck next year, girls.

Halloween Weekend

ctober 28th began this weekend of excitement with the first Guild of the school year. Students gathered in the audience to watch their friends perform and to enjoy the show that was organized and run by students. It was a night full of great music and laughter hosted by "Benny", Amy Benedict, and "Gouldie", Tim Gould.

For the finale Ambi Bowo played "I Feel Good" by James Brown accompanied by Tas Nanji on saxophone and Nathan Hassel on violin. The song brought the crowd to their feet and many audience members ran up to the stage to dance.

Saturday followed Friday and provided just as much entertainment. The Social Committee worked hard to create an exciting and fun-filled dance. All the students arrived in the gym in costume and ready to dance. Student Council put together a carnival for all to enjoy and S.A.D.D. provided delicious mocktails. The Halloween Dance soon became a night of enjoyment and socializing for everyone.

More than 700 athletes participated in soccer, cycling, and, for the first time, equestrian competitions. The equestrian events were held at Windrush Farms in Boxford. Seniors Jamie Shulman and Ksenija Topic headed the effort and worked unfailingly throughout the fall to stage this huge event and coordinate the 243 G.D.A. students who volunteered to work for the entire day.

The event boasted Olympic Speed Skaters, and the national anthem, sung this year by Lauren Abernathy and Ariele Ebacher. A display by parachuters had to be cancelled due to rain, but the ill weather did not dampen students' enthusiasm. The volunteers were able to overcome all the challenges that confronted them. A shortage of lunches did not prevent any athlete from receiving a meal and the shortage of referees was not a problem after Pat Forrest volunteered his services. Congratulations to all the volunteers whose hard work made this day truly special for all involved.

In Honor of Martin Luther King, Jr., GDA Students Give of Themselves

"What is going to bridge all those divides (in society) has got to be people."

n January 16, 1995, students and faculty—about 40 altogether—formed a community service corps that volunteered services at 377 different sites around the North Shore region: nursing homes and hospitals, shelters and child care centers, YMCA's and community centers. This was our annual tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr., casting our individual and collective efforts to help realize the dream.

Following the words of Pulitzer Prize-winning author Robert Coles, who spoke at school last year, Mr. Quigley, with the help of Seniors Amanda Harris, Preston Picardi, Merritt Noel, A.K. Kimoto and Cobb Mixter, organized the event. Mr. Quigley considers this the best way to honor the memory of Dr. King, and the day of service also fulfills the Academy's motto Non Sibi Sed Aliis. As Merritt says, "This is probably better, we're doing more. Rather than have the kids sit around listen to speakers, we're more active."

The day was considered "worthwhile" by the majority of the participants, and all seemed to see the difference they made. As Maura Sprince said after she and her group cleaned at Ploughshares hous ing project, "The building looked 100 times better than it had when we arrived." Students and faculty reached out and made a difference this day, with personal contact being of the most importance. "What is going to bridge all those divides (in society) has got to be people," said Mr. Quigley. "That's what we're embracing."

Night Out

The Formol this year was a BLAST! The girls ware the most beautiful dresses that I have ever seen and the guys were equally as hondsome in their tuxedos. Everyone met in the quad in front of The Phillips Building. Here we met up with our friends and posed for what seemed like a billion photographs. Slowly, we boarded the coach buses for an eventful evening of dinner and doncing at the Ipswich Country Club.

Mony of us were surprised to find o photographer at the door videotoping us but - some hommed-up to the comero ond others turned oway. Upon entering the bollroom we were token oside by the glittering silver and royal blue decorations but, soon enough we all conquered our dinner tobles. A buffet dinner was served and soon ofter the disc jackeys had some of us doncing around our tobles. Although, some of the lucky ones got to high kick to Fronk Sinotro's "New York, New York" song.

The disc jockeys kept the crowd on their toes oll night long. The music ronged from Hip Hop to the Golden Oldies. One surprise of the evening was to learn that our disc jockeys were, olso, professional dancers. They performed a quick number that left many of us breathless. The doncing ended of midnight, but the evening did not end. Arriving of Cederdole I was surprised

Arriving of Cederdole I wos surprised by its huge size and the many octivities avoilable to us such as swimming, volleyboll, billiards, basketboll and some people even had a cord game going! I doubt that anyone was bared, although some people were extremely tired and fell asleep on the couches. At about 5 AM if was time to gother our things and head back to GDA; by this time everybody seemed anxious to crawl into their beds. When we arrived back on campus we were greeted by Mr. Brogdon's smile along with some juice and donuts in the Monsion House. Mr. Brogdon must have known that many of us would miss out on Sunday's brunch due to our lote night out.

This was the first time that I had ever experienced something of this magnitude. Back in Germany, where I come from, they don't have events where friends and classmates can have a GDA's Formal. This evening was one that I will remember for a lifetime.

The Best In History

The Guild is a student run show in every aspect from the lights and decorations to the performers. The line up for each Guild offers a variety of music from alternative to folk, but some students prefer to perform their own original works. Mr. Stowen's often refers to this year's performances as "the best Guild's in the history of the Guild." involvement among the student body was more than ever before which brought ultimate success with the spring show being the longest one in the history of the academy.

We must not forget that the Guild is not all music, but that comedy is, also, offered by those who host the show. Who will ever be able to forget the duo comedy routines of the Harley Davidson biker couple Amy "Benny" Benedict and Tim "Gouldie" Gould or the long haired freaky duo of Archie Kasnet and Mark "Gravesy" Graves, but remember this spring when Mark got fired and gave Junior Todd Winters a chance at hosting the show. The success of this student run show is largely owed to the Presidents, Ambi Bowo, Mike Noon and Aki Sato because without their dedication and organization to the Guild would not have evolved into being the most watched performance at the academy. Next year's Presidents, Lauren Abernathy, Todd Horvath, Todd Winters and Jason Olbres have large shoes to fill; let's hope that they too are successful.

The Arts Are

Taken By

The Fine Arts program at Governor Dummer Academy has grown by leaps and bounds this year with more students participating than ever before in the Academy's history. Mr. Stowens leading the instrumental department and Ms. Robertson leading the vocal department have produced four concerts and a holiday ceremony in the chapel; this has added culture and diversity to life at G.D.A.

The music program that was once comprised of a few music students hastily expanded to four large performing groups: The Academy Singers, AVT, Chamber Ensemble and The Big Wind. The music program, also, includes individuals who display their talents at the Guild, a favorite tradition among all G.D.A. students.

One must not forget the studio arts that are lead by Mrs.

STORM

Britton, Mrs. Okula and Mr. Oxton. There were two studen shows done this year in the Kaiser Art Gallery, one which included successful claymation videos by the new animation class that was taught for the first time at the Academy. When students were not showing their works in the gallery there were guest artists such as photographer Mrs. Kitty Mercer, a previous art teacher here at G.D.A. and the Academy's own collection which includes works done by both Warhol and Abbott. The G.D.A. fine arts have come a long way and will continue to prosper as more students have a growing interest in what the arts have to offer.

RUNAWAYS Hits Home

"Runaways," was a moving, poignant, thought-provoking play. It combined monologue, music, and dance into a wonderful play.

"Current Events," a monologue by Evan McEwing talked about all of the awful things going on in the country and how we can do little about them. "Footsteps," performed by Ariele Ebacher, was the story of a young girl who had to listen to her parents fighting every night while they pretended she was not there.

"Is This the World We Created?" was an especially touching song that cast members sang and danced to. The chorus of the song asked, "Is this the world we created? Is this the world we devastated?"

"I Went Back Home," a monologue by Alanna Pike, was about a runaway who decided to return home. Her parents pretended she was not in the room and decided to teach her a lesson by torturing her.

"Bad Wisdom" was a moving song that Ariele sang and danced to. "Revenge," with Alanna, Jacob Chase, Ariele and Katie James, was a wonderful piece about how these runaways would take revenge on all of the people who had hurt them in the past. Another intriguing and exciting part of the play was a fight scene involving Katie and Cassandra Shaffer.

"Runaways" was a wonderful combination of funny moments, extremely sad moments, beautiful dancing, and great music. At the end of the performance, everyone had a better idea of what it must feel like to be a runaway and how painful and confusing the experience must be.

-Maura Sprince '98

The cast of Runaways puts on a dazzling show that makes G.D.A. more aware the challenges that real life runaways face each day.

Damon Jespersen starring as "Leonato" converses with Brandi Hall starring as "Antonia."

phomore Jordan Miller stars "Don Pedro" & Senior Mike Noon stars as "Benet" in Much Ado About Nothing.

ime Hyatt's character "Sexton" makes the final judgent while Hilary Straw as "Dogberry" stands by.

MUCH ADO Comes Through

"Much Ado About Nothing" by William Shakespeare graced the stage in Thompson Auditorium.

"Much Ado" is a comical drama, and actors Hillary Straw, Scott Collins and others played up the comedy. The drama was decorated with humor, but also intensity.

The play is a story of love and distrust. In the end, of course, the guy gets the girl and love overcomes distrust.

The outstanding cast brought this play to life on the stage. Mike Noon, Jennifer Smyth, Damon Jespersen, Meg Murphy, Julia Davis, Simon Taylor, Brandi Hall, Scott Collins, Jordan Miller, and Hillary Straw did a tremendous job. Their characters made us laugh as well as become enraged.

"This was by far the best classic play performed at G.D.A. in my three years. It was so funny!" one play-goer said.

"I thought I was in the Globe Theater," said another.

"The whole thing eluded me," one student said.

"Much Ado About Nothing" proved to be success on campus.

Dance Progresses Into More Advanced Styles

This year's Winter Dance program surpassed others in its wonderful merit of having quite a few previously experienced dancers. Due to this we were able to progress into more advanced styles of movement. With willingness and enthusiasm we dove into pieces which demanded more than our commitment to the movement of the piece, but also the drama of it. In our show we hoped to have displayed our ability in our kind of dance; from stylistic jazz to comedic dance theater, to improvisational movement, to modern style. Student choreography in this year's show abounded. Liz Corcoran, Mandy Hodges and Ariele Ebacher displayed their individual styles of dance in their solo pieces, while Evan McEwing, Dawn Goldworm, Brandy Hall and Mandy put a piece of their own choreography on the company, and Ariel revised a previous piece of trio choreography for herself, Evan and Dawn for the show.

When our instructor Fontaine Dollas-Dubus journeyed to Poland with a dancer from the company to perform a dance piece that she choreographed about the Holocaust at an international peace convocation, we had the wonderful experience of a previous dance coach at G.D.A. Donna Roaf. We also had the privilege of working with Newburyport's Stephen Haley on our dramatic pieces. His insight in the drama and necessity of commitment to our performances helped us tremendously - We Thank him. Above all we Thank Fontaine for her dedication to us and patience with us when we got a bit out of hand - Sorry! We hope everyone returns to the dance company next winter.

Simply Amazing

he winter musical entertained most of the student body, faculty and relatives. "Joseph" was a whirlwind of singing and dancing and silly costumes.

The story began with the narrators unfolding the tale of how Joseph was Jacob's favorite son and Jacob presented him with a multicolored coat to show his love.

The other 11 brothers were not too pleased with Joseph's new gift. They also objected to Joseph's dreams that predicted his inevitable fame, but little did they know Joseph had a flair for dream interpretation.

The brothers plotted his untimely demise, but were deterred from their plan by two greasy Ishmaelites. They ended up sending Joseph packing to Egypt where he was bought as a slave by Potipar.

Little did the brothers know that from here Joseph would become the right hand of the Pharaoh. Joseph saved the day by being able to interpret dreams and predicted Egypt's fall into famine. Joseph led Egypt through the famine and was rewarded for his help.

The brothers reunited with Joseph when they came to Egypt in search of food and begged at his feet. The reunion was sweet, and Jacob came to Egypt. Joseph once again donned his multicolored coat.

The play was truly a joy to experience and, Thanks to Ms. Robertson, and Mr. Wann a complete success!

An Absolute Hit

es, indeed, Alice in Wonderland was an absolute hit! Not only did the younger kids on campus love the play, but also many students, faculty and parents attended the show.

The play would not have been a success without the leadership of Senior Co-Directors, Liz Bruno and Mike Noon; the two co-directed the play as their Senior Spring Term Project. Liz, who is typically a techie in the light booth, revealed her hidden talent as an actress on center stage starring as the Mad-Hatter. Mike, who is normally comfortable on center stage, took his hand in being a techie, learning that it is not always fun and games in the basement of Thompson. Although, a drama production would not be complete without him and it was complete when he appeared as the Caterpillar.

One member of the cast and crew stated: "Wow! I can't believe that we produced a play in such a short time, and it was so darn good too." Many students enjoyed the show so much that they came to see it on both Friday and Saturday nights. Many seniors took the play as an opportunity to make their debut on the stage in a drama production before their graduation. Overall the production was a complete success!

rease mania took over G.D.A. this spring with students singing and humming the songs such as "Greased Lighting" and "We Go Together." Senior Alanna Pike and Junior Meg Carey are to blame for Grease mania because it was they who Co-Directed the musical. After months of anticipation gradually building within the G.D.A. community opening night finally arrived.

Students, Faculty and even people from off campus filled up Thompson Auditorium on both May 12 and 13. Featuring Senior Chris Terry as Danny and Sophomore Rachel Lipman as Sandy the performing chemistry between the two was magnificently convincing. The Pink Ladies and T-Birds kept the audience laughing through the entire show. One student commented, "The one liners between both the guys and the girls are really worth remembering; someday I may be able to use them." Another student commented, "The way the musical incorporated life at G.D.A. made it worth seeing. How were they able to do that?"

If you did not see this musical then, you missed out on what many consider the BEST student run production ever at the academy.

PILOTING the CHALLENGE

nder the guidance of the faculty and staff at Governor Dummer Academy the old boarding school tradition of excellence is carried out and fostered. As a student at the academy you quickly discover that the devotion of your teachers and the staff members is unique and goes far beyond their job description. You never know what to expect next, from placing bags of popcorn on the tables in the dining hall or having a new class activity or trip planned. However, you can find these men and women on campus all the time, including weekends and summers. Since most of them live here, they are constantly thinking of new ideas of how to make G.D.A. a better place for you, the student. Here the faculty and staff are your friends people who show support and back you up 100%, both inside and outside the classroom. They are the backbone of the community and are continuously Piloting the Challenge.

"Abby, what are you cooking for us, on the grill?".

"Terry, put that wheel back on your bike!" Mr. Lenane tells Terry Sanford.

What is the most rewarding part of being an educator?

Working one-on-one with a student and when they are successful knowing that I was able to help them.

RISING ABOVE THE REST

ere you are, the fall of your Senior year, the final one here at Governor Dummer before you move ahead on the road of life. You start the year listening to Mr. Bragdon's speech stressing the fact that you are no tonger on undercas man, but a leader and a role model for the rest of the school community. Mrs. Adams-Wall assists you through the grueling college application process that has carried over from your Junior year. You scurry to make last minute interviews and to meet every application deadline. At the same time you are attempting to finish the never-ending assignments given by teachers. Your extracumcular activities are just as important as your school work because colleaes want students that are involved in their school community and well-rounded. As midterms creep up in January, you begin to question the truth in all the hype you've heard as an underclassman about Senior year being the best year of your life

When spring rolls around you take full advantage of Senior Slide, finally discovering why this is the best year of your life. Suddenly you are not sure if having your mallbax stuffed with a letter from a college you have applied to or a picture of Ed McMahon on a brown envelope is better. The Wall of Shame in the Senior Room, which has new carpet, is established with all the college rejection letters. Your time at G.D.A. is slowly coming to an end, the bond with the rest of your class becomes stronger as you discover new and old friends within your own class.

Together, the Senior Class of 1995 is Rising above the Rest.

Laura Barnes, Yasmine Alireza, and Jen Smyth relax after the hike to the top of Mt. Monadnock. Mr. Leavitt heads seniors away from Brantwood to the Mt. Monadnock trall.

Brett Fullerton, Dave Kelmer, and Mark Graves give the seniors a laugh as they perform their "Cassell's Used Book Store" skit.

Chris Stringer gets a helping hand to adjust his pack from Dr. Bradley and Mr. van Ness. Martha Mercer, Pres-

Brantwood Scores With Seniors

On the ride up to Brantwood, I had already composed a mental picture of what Brantwood was like. With nothing to go by except last year's Beniors' horror stories, let's just say my mage of Brantwood wasn't a very pretty picture. I expected to arrive at some barren, muddy stretch of land where leeches roamed in abundance and the toilets were holes in the ground with unknown life-forms inhabiting them.

When we arrived, I was incredibly shocked at the natural beauty that surrounded us. Expecting something not much lovelier than a swamp, it was comforting to listen to a bird's song as I took in the vastness of the place.

We put our things down and waited for Mr. Colgate's announcements. Chris Farley, I mean Mr. Colgate, gave us a brief history of his early days at Brantwood. He showed us around, making proficient use of his hands to clarify that the boys would be staying "over there," away from the girls, who would be staying on the other side of the "neutral area" (which, by the way, was "right here") where we did our "convening."

It's difficult to imagine, after spending three years in cliques, which were supposed to be broken up by the past three years' trips, that any kind of bonding or unification could be a realistic goal. Actually, I was surprised over how much bonding occurred in those three days. I think we all learned a lot more about our classmates than we had known before.

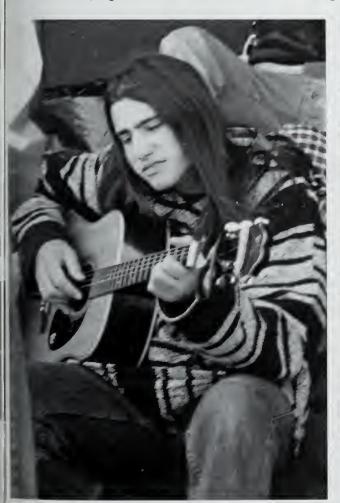

We split up into seven groups. We did activities, played games, ran relay races, got dizzy and fell down. The next morning, we all got up early and went on a six mile hike of Mt. Monadnock. It was a lot of fun, even though there were a few mishaps and several of us left early. That night at dinner, each group performed their hiking song and skit. We heard everything from the Brady Bunch theme song to Jinglebells, retitled "Hiking Hell", and most of our skits had similar themes of "Dio impressions" and "Cassell: friendly neighborhood car salesman."

There was also a lot of time for us to hang out. We pooled our musical talents for sing-a-longs. We played hack in our spare time, when we weren't busy checking out the dead frog or trying to save the drowning mouse in the pool. That night, a lot of us crowded into the main building and stayed there for the night. The next morning, we closed up the trip with a few activities and headed back to school.

Brantwood was one of the best experiences I have had at GDA so far. It was another chance to really get to know one another better, even those classmates who we may have thought we already knew well. It was a lot of fun, a great time, and it's definitely something that underclassmen should look forward to.

Class Advisor Extraordinaire

Dear Mrs. Jarrett.

The Senior class would like to take a moment to thank you for your hard work and dedication. You have been our class advisor extraordinaire. Staying with us through the fun and difficult times, you have shown the truly great spirit and the kind heart that you possess. The last four years you have not only been our mentor, but our friend.

Our freshman year we were fledglings, but you showed us the ropes of how to become a part of the Governor Dummer community. The problems that confronted us as a new class seemed overwhelming to us, but with your assistance we were able to work through them. We all shared your joy and excitement with the birth of Lindsay, your first child. When we went through crisis, you too shared the pain we were experiencing, but you remained strong for us,

The class size increased sophomore year with new faces, but most importantly you were back. We were all going through an emotional period of our lives, but you were right there urging us to seize each day. With your assistance we were able to unify as a class to organize a successful casino night. Although some of us were disappointed that we could not play with real money, in the end we all emerged as winners, with you helping us to complete yet another year at the Academy.

The year most of us dreaded academically was our junior year. We were told it would be a trying time for us, and with your support we were able to prove that we as a class were up to the challenge. We began to prepare for the leadership role that would soon be passed on to us and you assisted us by organizing a class trip to the John F. Kennedy Library. There we as a class voiced our concerns from the past and for the future. When Andrew came along we once again were eastatic for you and that fact we survived another year.

Senior year, the final one here at Governor Dummer, has arrived. Brantwood was just what we needed to revive our old friendships and to bring us to the reality that we are the leaders in the community.

The Class of 1995 appreciates your devotion for the past four years. Thank You for your love and support you will always be remembered as our friend.

Four years of being the advisor for the Class of 1995 and Mrs. Jarrett is still smiling.

Molly Scharfe and Blair Taylor give Mrs. Jarrett a lift onto the bus going back to Brantwood.

Martha Fournier and Arnaud Lessard share a joke during lunch.

Jen Smyth and Liz Byrne enjoy their last winter at Governor Dummer.

History tends to repeat itself over the course of many years. However, I think that our class will go down in the history of GDA as the most original in bearing varities of distinct qualities. And with those varities brings numerous memorable times, never to be torgotten: Did I ever tell you..?, 1.2,3.No..don't touch me!, Hell night, the Wrinkly Palm Frons, Rotary Runs, Do I have a torehead...?, If I were a tlower..., Gina Rat, chowing on twinkies and cupcakes. Did you enter the dirty dungeon?. Times like these, we'll never tind again, so don't ever let them go. To my parents (Herbert and Bertha); Hopefully you'll let me in on the secret one day on how you both managed to deal with Abbie and I tor seventeen years. And through all the torture, you were there tor me every time that I needed you, which means more to me than you know. Thanks tor believing in me.Luv ya both. Kiddo., take it easy these next three years. Don't do anything drastic like kill Mom and Dad Even though I'll be at college, I'll always be there tor you if you ever need me. You've been a friend tor most of my life and have seen all the possible sides to me. You have kept me company like no other could and I couldn't image my life without you. I love you will all of my heart. Merritt..., the third time is always a charm, and to think that we owe it all to my car, what memories it does bring. You've given a reason tor my smile, and have filled my life with laughter.My love for you will never end no matter how long the distance.Keep the memories in your mind and in your heart and I will be with you forever. Hove you even.

Well its been a rough ride but its over now. There is alot of people I'd like to thank like my Mom and Dad and my brother Raj. I'd also like to thank Mr. VanNess who was more then a counselor for me but also a friend. There are way to many memories from this place to fit on half a page but here are some which stand out. Why do they call you captain? What time is it, F.D.T. I'll knock you out. D.D.F. Dominates. Dio its movie time. Goldielocks we're not changing your name. Horvi you're one of a kind. Captain, the winds are good, let's set sail. Where the hell is Perry. Dippy I thought you were quittin. Winty and Cracky the third floor window looks pretty high. Perkins Posse, Make sure its DM. 7 wonders of the world. Uno club. Wounded Warriors, Vid club, Victims of Internal Decay, My first time was with Primetime. "There are places I remember all my life, though some have changed Some forever and not for better. Some have gone and some have changed. All these places had their moments with lovers and friends I still can recall. Some are dead and some are living.

But in my life, I loved them all." -John Lennon

I would like to thank (in alphabetical order) the following faculty who have helped me grow and get through the four years at Governor Dummer Academy. Their help was priceless: Mr. Abu(the maniacal XC coach), Ms. Adams-Wall (for her kind help and patience in getting me through the college process), Mr. Baratelli (Sofia Loren), Mr. Cassell (the hard nosed FA guy), Mr. Colgate, Mr. Finn (for being there freshman year when I was trying to settle down in a new environment). Mr. Gosse (The best math teacher I ever had. Thank you for sticking with me after my Alg. II debacle), Mrs. Guy (my first French teacher and study organizer), Mr. Leavitt(a true fan of The Game), Mr. Moonves(Dodger Blue Forever!), Mr. Nelson(one of the first faculty I met and great history teacher), Dr. O(the shield activity at Brantwood), the Purdys (for easing my mind about The Governor), Mr. Rybicki (rest in peace), Mr. Stowens (for accepting me into your ring of musical madness), Ike Suggs (for hooking me up w/ LEAD), Mr. Van Ness (trouble, trouble) and last but not least, Mr. Wann (It's good to see you!)

I'd also like to thank some other people for making the GDA experience fun as well: Kate (Wink! Wink!) McCullough, someone who has been a tremendous help with her love and support, the ICC dorm parents (Lt. Searles, Quigley, Bradley, and Moore), Rich Dailey (for his even kell friendship), Frenchy ('big bird to New York'), Amaud(Look, it's Bruce!), Jared Metz, Robbins (It was a Blessed Relief), Tags (my lab partner in crime for 4 years), Orlando (nice mohawk), James (the Light Of Joy), Tom Smith (WHO DROVE THE VAN?!!), Brooks (rat phinctii theology), Jorge (this Stinks. I meant to use another five letter "s" word but they wouldn't let me), all the Cottage Boys (Peace Angel) from freshman year and anyone else I was associated with.

Most importantly, I would like to thank God for giving me the strength to make it and my loving family who supported me even though I was far away from them. I love you guys!

Mr. Bragdon, Mr. Ceglarski, Mr. Cassell, Mr. Moonves, Mr. Moore, Mr. Piatelli, Dr. Bradley, Mr. Gerry, Mr. Searles, Mr. Quigley, Mr. Purdy, Wotty, Mrs. Adams-Wall, Miss Eaton, and coach M^c Donnell. Thank you for everything!

Mom and Dad, I'm not sure where to begin, you've given me so much I'm afraid I'll never be able to repay you. Thanks for always being there for me and giving what I need to make It on my own. I love you both and thanks for putting up with my s-t. To those who have become my extended family for the past three years, It was a blast. I hope all those who helped me through and widened my views will continue with their kindness. If you look at the people on our planet, they are not standing in a line single file. Look closely. Everyone is really standing in a circle, holding hands. Whatever you give to the person standing next to you, it eventually comes back to you. Thanks to the Zu-crew for now I'm that much closer to insanity. And to the one who kept me sane through it all, I LOVE YOU(even). Riley, now and forever my love will be the same. I'll be waiting for you in the pouring rain. Remember the times we tried to argue but there's nothing left to do but smile, smile, smile. Thanks to all those for being you. And to those who still haven't seen the light, it will soon shine bright. LOVE and PEACE.

When I sit and think all I can drag out of my mind is that I hope you felt treated as well as I tried to treat you. You were always the first thought on my mind. I love you so much and this burt is so hard and sharp that I'm afraid of having to leave you when every nomest I'll spend wondering of all those could-have-beens that will pound my heart and brain when I'm gone. I'we tried to do everything I could to show you how much I love you. Oh, I'we dreaded even thinking about this time. Please think of me every so often and remember our promises to keep in touch. Assess, this burts, deep! I love you. You really are the Perfect Girl. My tears on your cheek.

AMY- As far as I search, as far as I roam, I know I will never meet another friend like you. There are far too many memories to write and way too much to say, so thank you for being the best friend I could pray for. You were always there for me through the good and bad, and I promise to be there for you until eternity. I Love You Killer, Ju-Ju, Jelly Bean, DiTolla, and Benny: I know in my heart the Sunday River Six will never part. Friends last forever in Spirit and Soul. And because you all have an abundance of both I know that a geographic separation will not break our bond. Our unforgettable memories will stay in my mind as our friendship stays in my heart.

Mom, Dad, and Amy: Thanks for all the support, help, and love you gave me, I could not have done it without you!

'become my guest' 'I wanna eat sushi now!' 'I look all sick and S#@t!', 'next year, I'm gonna cut my hair just like dig....' fuo times at ambi's apartment, treats in the ladies room, 'I hate how they sag!' uocle david! two girls in one night one in the room and one at the party, lamar-how's the huah? ratting around the campus for hours at a time, a very close call with a speeding white jeep, meg- thanks for all the advice, just don't call me whipped, SQUEAKY MONKEY!

Thank You Mom and Dad for giving me so many opportunities. You guys aren't only my parents, you're my friends. Thank you Angel Talavera for being such a great inspiration in my life. There will never be a day when I stop thinking of you. Mr. and Mrs. Bragdon, the two of you have really helped me to find the good in people. I'll come back to see you sometime when there are Junior Mints in the headmaster's office. Mr. Rowe? I'm sorry, I can't hear you. Mr. Stowens, thank you for being there all the either, even when I was mean. I can't imagine what my life would be like had I never met you. Clint, you are my best friend, I could never have survived all those family vacations without your cheerful presence. I really mean that even though you did poke me in the eye on that plane home from Geneva and I did not deserve it. To everyone in the class of 95, just make sure that you have goals and anything is possible. Take it

The sun has set I can see the Darkness Runnin' over your eyes.

The bounds in their blank rooms Will howl all the days They don't know what they're sayin' But they'll say it anyway.

I think I saw you
Standing on the corner today
It didn't look like you wanted to be there
So I reached out and called our name
But all I got was a blank stare.

STEERING TOWARD THE CHALLENGE

Vou as an Underclassman at Governor Dummer are dealing with the changes and accepting the consequences that come with conforming to peer pressure. As a Freshman you struggle to be noticed. You do not settle to just watch the morning meetings, but are instead a part of the action. Your involvement continues, for example, on Student Council as you help with fund raising ideas in an attempt to bringing the Battle of the Bands to G.D.A. You keep a strong composure while fighting to be more than just a face in the crowd.

Sophomore year brings new faces into your class, but as you make new friends the old ones are not forgotten. The bond between the class tightens as you help to contribute to the Academy's pride and spirit by involving yourself with new activities and joining new clubs. Your visibility becomes known and your smile always welcome.

As a Junior you try to have a taste of the fun you had as a Sophomore while at the same time experiencing some of the pressure of being a Senior. You play a greater leadership role and the impression that you make is well-respected by other students. Your school spirit is well-displayed by painting your body with the Academy's colors and your participation in GUILDs is very noticeable within the school community.

There are several experiences that have yet to come your way as you, an Underclassman, are gradually Steering Towards the Challenge.

Prepping To Be Leaders

unior year is a trying time because suddenly we are not underclassmen anymore. The process of prepping us to be leaders within the school community instantly occurs upon our arrival in the fall. The process begins on Unity Weekend with the class becoming reacquainted after a lengthy summer vacation. As the year continues, we gradually take on more leadership roles within the community by reviving old clubs, like Todd Walters did with the Debate Club, and even starting new ones, such as when Janna Panall and Brad Russell made the community aware of unjust animal cruelty.

The roles continue into both drama and athletics with several of us taking center stage and being league M.V.P.'s.

As if all this leadership stuff does not cause enough stress we are continually reminded that this is our most important academic year and that we should make it our best too. On top of everything else we have to take S.A.T.'s early on Saturday mornings several times throughout the year, but we all survive. The year provided us with both memorable and challenging times, but we now must look into the future - SENIORHOOD!

"Friendship

gift."

ne of the greatest parts of life is meeting people and making friends. We talk to them and discover something new and different in every one. We learn what they like, and what their opinion and outlook are on things, things which we might have never thought of before. These people can teach you something new and different if you are willing to try. This is how a person evolves and becomes a livina and active human being.

Every person is like a tree. It grows and grows, but without interaction with different people, the tree will never grow branches. Every bough, every branch, every twig, and every leaf are all interconnected, which helps us to sustain life. And the stronger the love is for that person, the stronger the branch is connected to the tree. Friendship is a special gift that one person can give to another. A person would never develop if he never interacted with others.

For those who knew Chris, he was a branch on everyone's tree. He affected all our lives in one way or another. Chris was a person whom everyone would have liked to have known if they had the chance. I am glad I had that chance. For me, his branch is strongly attached to my tree trunk, and it is still living. It is still living because I still use the things he gave me in my life today.

Chris had several admirable qualities that many people would envy. Chris always had a positive outlook. This was something that he taught me. He was always looking toward the brighter side of things, which in my mind was one of his greatest qualities. With an optimistic outlook, anything is possible. In our first Guild, he said that we have to just go out there and do it, to see if we can at least do it.

My friendship with Chris was a moment carved in the snow. I knew Chris for only about two vears, but in those two years he gave a lot to me. I regret not knowing him longer. Even though the snow has melted, memories of him are still etched in my mind. He gave me his friendship which I feel is the greatest thing he gave me. He was always there for me, when I had problems with school work, when I wanted to play guitar, when no one was around to play lacrosse or do anything, he was there. This is something I wish I could have thanked

He gave up a lot of time to his friends, time he could have spent doing whatever he wanted; but instead he spent it with friends like me, doing what I wanted to do. He was a very giving person. In a way, that is what Chris liked and wanted to do. That was part of our friendship. He took what I wanted to do and changed it into something he wanted to do. He was a spark, igniting and fueling ideas and inspirations. The best way for me to remember Chris is playing guitar with him. That was when he was the most happy, performing for the Guilds. This spark he gave is something that I need to pass on. I need to take Chris's example and move on, passing values and inspirations to others. I think we all have to be more giving to others.

Scott Coulon acts tough.

Half Way Through

Pe've made it half way through G.D.A. and many of us feel that the hard part is over. The anxiety of not knowing anyone, being unfamiliar with teachers and other faculty members and the fear of not fitting in and not making friends is behind us. What comes next begins the second half of our G.D.A. career where we can really make our presence felt.

We as a class have bonded together and have shared good times and bad. Over these past two years we have lost, but not forgotten old faces and accepted new friends and neighbors. We look forward to making our Junior year the Best vet.

Freshmen Blossom In Many Areas

reshman year is great experience because Governor Dummer Academy is good fertile ground to plant our seeds for high school success. This year is a new beginning for all the freshmen.

Unity weekend was a good opportunity for all of us to make new friends. We also developed friendships with the upperclassmen and will be sad to see the Seniors leave, but at the same time we are excited about becoming sophomores. No longer will we be known as the Freshmen "tools."

Many freshmen blossomed on the stage, playing fields and in student government. It has become evident that our class offers a lot of potential for future leadership. Some of us actually found the courage to perform a skit at morning meeting, others of us to perform at art concerts and Guilds.

Congratulations to all freshmen for surviving their first year at the Academy; it was a new and different school, but we made it. Way to succeed!

RISING AGAINST THE ODDS

Vou hustle down to the Pescosolido Field House from the French Building at about 3:00 in the afternoon, quickly change and run to practice. If you have to make a visit to the trainer and want to avoid the mass chaos, being there before 3:00 is a must, or you can expect to be late for practice. Whether you are taking part in a team or individual sport, the training is always intense.

Autumn brought good-natured competition among the Varsity Field Hockey and Varsity Men's Soccer teams. Unfortunately, Varsity Field Hockey challenged the Varsity Men's Soccer to a field hockey game and lost. Luckily, Varsity Men's Soccer received a free dinner for their win. Interscholastically, there were signs of high-level of competition, Varsity Men's Soccer keeping the Houston-Navins cup away from arch-rival Brooks for the third year in a row and G.D.A. hosting the I.S.L. Cross Country Championship on the academy's rigorous cross country trafils.

Winter taught athletes that winning is not everything. The season was a building experience for each team on every level. Thus, the success of JV Women's Hockey and JV Volleyball must not go unnoticed.

Spring season brought excitement to the campus and the title of I.S.L. Champions to Varsity Women's Lacrosse. Several other teams enjoyed success as well: Varsity Men's Tennis, Varsity and JV Baseball.

Throughout the year you have raised your level of competition each time you have stepped onto the playing field, court and rink. No matter who the opponent was, you gave 100% while Rising Against the Odds.

The Navins
Cup Retained!

This year's team returned with high expectations. Early season jitters and overconfidence brought a disappointing start to the '94 campaign. Regardless of the tough breaks for the squad we continued to work hard and play competitively. Parent's Weekend was the stage for the annual showdown with Brooks. Although the Govs fell behind 1-0 late in the second half, they regrouped and netted the tying goal to keep the Houston-Navins Cup for the third consecutive year. The first win came against St. Sebastian's and set the tone for the final two weeks of the season. When playing the top teams in the league the Govs turned many heads but the lack of luck left them in second place too many times. Steady improvement and hard work showed that the future GDA soccer is a bright one. Good Luck to next year's team.

Inexpected Winning Season

Captains Marisela Aguilera ad Jackie Bean led the 1994 when's cross country team cring this successful winning eason with a 5-4 record. The tam remained strong and dermined when injuries rigued the top two runners. The team displayed amazing calities made the season remorable for all.

At the end of the season the tim traveled to Connecticut for the New England Championships. In this tough regional meet Captain Marisela Aguilera finished a remarkable 7th place. The MVP award was given to Captain Jackie Bean and Valerie Oriol received the Coaches award. The entire team deserves an award and recognition for their self-determination and productive season. Good luck for continued success to next year's captain, Valerie Oriol. By Jackie Bean '95

New Runners Bring Promise

With only two returning varsity runners. Cross Country had an uphill battle. Captains Todd Robbins and Chris Terry were somewhat skeptical about how well they would do but when they saw Freshmen Andy Ramirez and Dave DiCiccio, their hopes soared. The ascension of Chris Coleman, Jeff Gilberg, Yuri Piatetski, and Mike Leonardi to the varsity level assured the G.D.A. crew of a good season.

Highlights of the season included a tough loss to Middlesex, due simply to injury, by four points. However, considering the inexperience of the team, the 6-2 record compiled was extremely good.

In an overly warm ISL's, G.D.A. finished eighth, and we finished a slightly disappointing fourth in the New England Division Three Championships.

With five returning Varsity runners next year, the Governor's Harriers should win a championship or two, provided that they continue (as they did this season) to improve.-Chris Terry '95

Fun & Hard work

All A Part of the Game

The Varsity Field Hockey team started this year's season off slow, but grew stronger as the season progressed The team was led by Tri-Captains Megan DiTolla, Gretchen Scharfe and Molly Scharfe. The season was highlighted with sex education talks, gossip sessions, pranks on the Varsity Men's Soccer team and of course the "BIG" Middlesex win, where we scored our first six goals of the season, got two Middlesex players thrown out of the game and prevented them from defending their I.S.L. title. The playing level of each individual player continuously improved throughout the season which resulted in a five game winning streak.

The team will never be able to thank our coaches, Mrs. Enge and Mrs. Vogel, enough for all they have done for us both on and off the field Their continual support will never be forgotten. We would also, like to thank the Varsity Men's Soccer team during a frustrating time they provided an outlet and some lasting memores. Thank You to graduating Seniors Ashley Russell, Casey Deschamps and Liz Byrne for all their great seasons of playing.

Prominent Future

Men's Football endured a difficult season this year facing some tough opponents. Yet, under the command of fine coaches and strong minded captains, GDA's hard work and perseverance resulted in some well deserved triumphs as well as defeats. Essentially, by the end of the season the team had developed strong offensive and defensive plays and a solid game. The team's determination endured through a tough game against Belmont Hill. Although, the athletes' efforts did not secure a victory, they left the field with a strong belief that in the future more prominent seasons will come.

Held Their Heads High

While doing their cardiovascular workouts, also known as very tough practices, the spirit of the Varsity team shined as they helped each other push through challenging practices. When the team didn't have the leading score they kept their heads up high and fought onwards. One player summed up this year by saying "Some teams have their good years and growing years. This was a growing year for the team."

This season's Co-captains were Casey Deschamps and Amy Benedict, who helped guide the team with endless efforts both on and off the ice. This year's Coaches Award was given to Senior Casey Barbaro because when it came time to practice she was always the first one out on the ice and the last to leave. Leaving the team are six Seniors, Barbaro, Benedict, Deschamps, Sethna, Swallow, Taylor and Trussell, whose playing impact will be missed, but not forgotten. Coaches Vogel and Johnson cannot go unnoticed because without them believing in the team 100% we would not have learned as much as we did this season-Thank You! The Best Of Luck to next season's Co-captains Katie Meyer and Brad Russell, remember team work is everything

Rebuilding Year

The 1994-1995 edition of the Varsity Hockey team was a group of young guys who were not expected to achieve any great feats because of the number of new faces in the line-up. Yet, they went into the season with a positive attitude and a strong work ethic looking to prove the skeptics wrong.

The team started slowly, but regrouped to play its best hockey from Christmas through semester break. The team had a strong showing at the G.D.A. Christmas tournament and in a number of league games. They showed their ability to play with anyone who stepped on the ice. The team finished the season in a roller coaster type fashion as the lack of depth, injuries, and inexperience took its toll.

Overall, the season could be chalked up as a building year and a learning experience for everyone involved. Losing only three seniors, the team looks to be strong next season as they attempt to win both the league and New England titles.

TEAMWORK is the Best Defense

The Women's Varsity basketball team had a great year. Unfortunately their drive and determination were not reflected on the court. Throughout much of the season, Co-Captains Ashley Russell and Jackie Bean, and seniors Martha Mercer, Laurie Carrie and Marisela Aguilera led the team.

The Women's team was built on a powerful defense full of teamwork, always looking to score on the offense. As Captain Russell said, "We had a fun and eventful season this year." The team would like to thank Mr. Suggs and Mr. Purdy. Both Captains would like to thank the whole team for making it a basketball season to remember, and good luck next year!

"A Lean Year"

This year's team was led by Co-captains Cobb Mixter and Andy Male. The Governor called this year's season "a lean year after graduating several players. There were frustrating moments throughout the year." Still, this team did have some rather exciting games such as Co-captain Mixter scoring the winning basket in a 47-45 overtime victory versus Milton Academy. Senior Dave Kelmer had a thrilling 16 points against Belmont Hill, one of the toughest teams in the I.S.L., which helped lead the team to a seven point victory. Thank-You Coaches Metz and Moore, you taught us more about life challenges through the game of basketball. Next year's team. Good Luck comes with lots of Hard Work!

his year's Varsity girls' volleyball team was led by the strong leadership of Co-Captains Elisabeth Byrne and Deborah Barry. Even though the volleyball team's record was not as good as in prior years the team showed a lot of potential for the future. This year's team consisted of only three seniors and will strive to be better next year according to "Governor" Editor-In-Chief, Ed Guzman, "Although, the team had some really strong performances from several players. Co-Captain Liz Byrne had a great season while Lindsay Clark became a very good settler." The team had lots of fun at the Choate tournament in Connecticut. This year's Co-Captains would like to Thank Coach Clark and wish the Best of Luck to next year's team.

Struggle, Progress and Promise

At the beginning of the wrestling season the team started roughly. Coming into this year, the team was composed of seven returning wrestlers, who were the core, and later on we acquired 14 newcomers. We lost several of our first meets due to inexperience, but because of great coaching and hard work, the team began to persevere and win its last few matches. There were times this year when we lost close meets, and there were also times when we wrestled an opponent match-for-match until we won the meet in the last match. This type of attitude was shown by captains Chris Coleman and Henry Cho; by newcomers Mike Shedosky, Dave DiCicco, Matt Nacol and Lee Melton; and by returners Orlando Velazco, Corey Merrity and Jeremy Gillis. We finished strong this year, and the team has much promise for next year. We will miss the leadership of Henry Cho and Orlando Velazco, but good luck to next year's team and their captains: Mike Shedosky, Chris Coleman and Corey Merrity.

he women's lacrosse team anticipated having a strong team and a good season this year, but had no idea how far they would go. The team was led by a strong group of seniors: Amy Benedict, Molly Scharfe, Gretchen Scharfe, Ashley Russell, Caroline Scully, and Riley Batchelder.

Most of the team began the season early with a week in Hilton Head during March vacation. The team came back excited for the season and ready to play. Our first two games were proof that the extra work paid off with runaway victories over Pingree and Exeter. Then, we faced St. Marks, our first league game, which ended in a one goal loss. Little did we know at the time that this game would be our only loss of the season. Over the course of the season we had many close games, yet G.D.A. always seemed to come out on top. The Middlesex game in particular was one to remember. with three seconds left rable games were our George's and Andover. made G.D.A. one of "the realization that this is our year!" Kate Manzella scored to win. Other memovictories over St. Our win over Andover two teams to beat them in the last 5 years! These victories brought the realization that "this is our vear"!

We would like to thank Ms. Hill and Mrs. Enge. When our team was content to sit back, they pushed us even harder reminding us that if we wanted to win we would have to work for it. This team had overwhelming talent but, more importantly tremendous spirit, which is what most of us will remember. Never Forget 10,9,8,7,6,5,4,3,2, and of course 1!! We talked the talk, we walked the walk and we found out what it's like to be I.S.L. Champs!

A Positive Finish

After a tough start to the season with some sound defeats, the Men's Varsity Lacrosse team came around to reach some of its potential. The team won five of its final seven games, including a strong victory over rival Brooks. The squad boasted a large number of Seniors, whose experience and leadership will be missed next year. With almost half the team graduating, the underclassmen will be asked to step up; furthermore, the prospects from the JV team are promising. Good luck to next year's team!

Junior Captain Leads Team Through A Winning Season

unior Captain Jeffrey Gilberg led the Varsity team through a winning season. At first the year started off slow with the team losing their first three matches, but improvements made by each player became noticeable with a seven match winning streak. The winning "started with the destruction of BB&N." according to player Brooks Bornhofft. Winning against St. Paul's, one of the best teams in the I.S.L., ended the team's streak, but did not prevent the sound defeat of GDA's arch rival Brooks.

This year's team was very successful; the strong player qualities of Seniors Sung An, Sheffie Faulkner and Raymond Pribadi will be missed. Next year's team will have new players, but with the strong leadership qualities of returning Captain Gilberg the team has a lot of promise.

Personal Records Highlight Season

The 1995 Men's track team overcame many obstacles resulting in an overall successful season. With their share of injuries, many to their top runners, the long distance team still fared quite well. Led by senior Chris Terry, the Gilbert Distance Award winner, many personal records were set and goals achieved. Justin Rivera led the few throwers and can certainly call his season a success.

What would this track season have been without Ray Long? He was amazing. Ray went undefeated in both the long and the triple jumps until the New Englands. There he took first place in the triple jump and smashed the meet record while inching closer to the school record. His two first place finishes at the ISLs earned him All League recognition. His jumps, along with his consistent placing in the 100 meter dash and anchoring leg of the relay team, made him the top scorer for the boys team and earned him a well-deserved MVP. Senior Captain Rich Dailey, along with Todd Robbins and Tom Smith, added to the success of the season.

Although their efforts didn't produce a place on the winner's stand at the New Englands, the personal achievements that came about as a result of the season certainly made the hard work worthwhile.

by Laurie Carrier '95

Women's Efforts Pay Off

The 1995 Women's Track season didn't start off as well as it ended. With many injuries and not many returners the outlook didn't seem optimistic. Luckily, the newcomers caught on quickly, the injured overcame their injuries, and what resulted was much more than anybody had expected.

It all started at Thayer when Naomi Odell came within .1 seconds of the 100 meter record. The pressure was really on during her last meet of the season at St. Paul's. Of course, Naomi didn't let us down. She not only captured the 100 meter record but the 200 meter record as well. Liz Byrne, the woman of a thousand events, didn't let us down either. She was consistently a high scorer for the team whether competing in the hurdles, the high jump, the javelin or the relay. In the New Englands she captured two first and two second places, making her the top scorer for the team.

The long distance team was led by seniors Jackie Bean and Marisela Aguilera. After two close races for Jackie Bean in the 1500 against the same competitor, all eyes were turned to see how the third contest would turn out. Of course Jackie beat her rival, making that and the fact that she went undefeated in the 3000 the highlights of her season. Her first in the 3000 at the New Englands earned her All League recognition.

The jumping team was led by senior Laurie Carrier and junior Abbey Coffin. In the New Englands, Laurie earned 12 points for the team, placing in the long jump, the triple jump and the 100 meter relay. Her quarter of an inch win in the long jump certainly made her season a success. A newcomer to the jumping staff, Abbey Coffin, certainly contributed greatly, placing sixth in the triple jump and helping the 400 meter relay team pick up third place.

The throwers also contributed to the final scores of the winning meets. The young staff was led by senior Casey Barbaro and sophomore Kathy May. Both placing in the New Englands, they were top competitors in the ISL in the discus and shot put events. The 1995 Women's Varsity track team's efforts paid off when they placed third in the New Englands.

Coach Moonves and Captain D'Orio

Coach Kept Them Laughing

enior Co-captains Brendt D'Orio and Chris Dubois led the golf team through a very difficult season and worked with many new players. Still, this team did not play effortlessly. Many players could be seen heading over to Olde Newbury Golf course in their spare time to work on their game. The team's hard work paid off when they beat Middlesex 6-1.

The graduating Seniors, Brendt D'Orio, Chris Dubois, Jeff Friess, Jae Seung Jang and Louis Olerio will be missed, but with many returning players next year's squad offers promise. The team would like to Thank Coach Moonves for his sense of humor that always kept us laughing. Best Of Luck next season!

Up & Down Season

The Varsity Baseball team enjoyed a roller coaster season that had many highs and many lows. The team started out the season 5-1 and had aspirations to be the I.S.L. champion. The team came from behind to beat arch rival Belmont Hill in a very emotion-packed game. Even though the team experienced a losing streak during the middle part of the season the team worked together to finish the season with an overall record of 8-8 (7-7 in league play). The team finished the season with a win over the hated enemy school Brooks in an 9 inning game. In this game David Kelmer finished off his glorious G.D.A. pitching career in excellent fashion by pitching all 9 innings and earning the win that pushed the team record to .500.

This year's Co-Captains David Kelmer and Eric Whittier were great leaders for this team which consisted of only 3 seniors. David Kelmer was elected as an All-League performer for the second year straight and Eric Whittier finished the year as one of the team's best hitter. Edward Guzman showed great spirit and determination as the team's third base coach. Good Luck to next year's team: Scott Grenier, Scott Coulon, Lamar Robinson, G.M. Van Cott, Patrick Rothwell, Trevor Meyer, Joe Nicastro, and Jeff LaBelle.

LIFE'S CHALLENGE COMMENCES

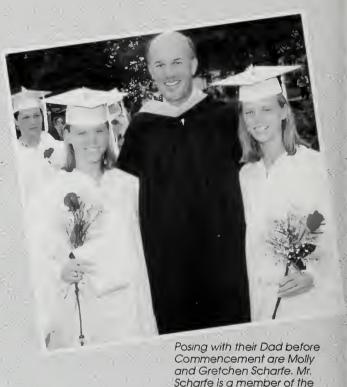

Vou and your friends are sitting oround in the French Building one cloudy November ofternoon visualizing what your graduation will be like In June. Suddenly, the end of May is here ond you are rushing over to the Phillips building to meet with the Faculty member that you are escorting to the Senior Dinner. The evening is hot ond humid both outside and inside. You sit down to a family style dinner with foculty ond clossmates to take a moment to soy "Thonk You" to the foculty members who ossisted you through difficult times of the Academy and to ponder on what the future hos in store for you. You hear three speeches from Myrtleon Stockdale. Mr, Paul Wonn and Mrs. Anne Benedict, each of them different, but oll reflecting on your time at G.D.A. Judy Sethna ond Gretchen Scharfe present the Angel Tolavera Scholarship as the class gift to Mr. Brogdon. The evening ends just as quickly as it begon, closing with the Senior slide show that couses teors to form in your eyes and leave you thinking "Am I really going to graduate in just two doys?"

The day of High Tea orrives, but some Seniors have to take their foreign language exam in the morning while others are able to sleep in late. Noontime morks the stort of the festivities for the day, starting with the Choriots of Fire race and continuing with lunch under the large tent that has been temporarily erected in front of Phillips. There is much socializing during lunch time; it is o chance for you to introduce your fomily t faculty members and your friends. Luckily for you time for Baccolaureate has arrived because Mom and Dod hove been telling emborrossing stories of your life oil ofternoon to people they have just met! The Baccalaureate ceremonies began with you and your clossmates filing into the Moseley Chapel to the St. Elmo's Fire theme song. After the class is seoted Dove Kelmer and Andy Male take a moment to remember Angel Tolavero, "A friend to each member of the Senior class whether you knew him or not, in some way he hos affected the lives of every single one of us." The ceremony continues with reflections from Mrs, Solly Jarrett, Jeff Jassmond and Mr. John Mercer, each causing you to experience every emotion, from laughter to sadness. A ceremony involving the Closs of 1995 would not be complete without music from Jen Smyth, Aki Sato, Ambi Bowo, Katz Ishlda ond Adom Tagliomonte, and leaves you thinking. "Wow, this is the last time I'll see these great musicians on the same stage," Laura Barnes closes with o Benediction that reminds you not to forget your time at the Academy as you move onword into the future. You and your classmates olmost bring the roof of the Chopel down with excitement os you scream and file out to the Top Gun theme song. Next you and your family are off to High Teo, then to the Awords Ceremony in the Alumni Gym. The night passes by quickly and you go off campus with your fomily for o few hours. When you return it's time to dance to reggae behind the field house with the rest of the school.

After years of anxiously waiting, the doy of Commencement arrives. You ond your friends ottend breakfast given by the Allies In the Mansion House, you share more memorles with the Bragdons and each other. Once again the time flies by quickly and you put on your robe and line up in front of the Chopel preparing to march. Mr. Ceglarski is rollying us on in a screaming match to help you to relieve the excitement and onticipation that is rapidly building up inside of you. You begin to march ond all the underclossmen are cheering you on as you wolk onto the front lawn of Mansion House. You take your seat ond the closs storts humming the Top Gun theme song, but you slowly begin to stop as Chris Terry takes to the podium to give the Invocation. Commencement continues with the singing of "America, the Beautiful," the awarding of more awards, then Joan W. Welsh steps up to the podium to give the Commencement oddress. The Address serves os an inspiration for the Class of 1995, that we con conquer oil of life's challenges, olthough it may not olways be on eosy quest. The moment you have been woiting for ... the awording of your well deserved diploma. You and your clossmotes cheer each other on as Mr. Doog Morgon presents most of us with our diplomas, but some of us have the honor of a porent awarding it. Once the diplomas have been oworded Eric Whittier a livers the Benediction with a quote from the rock group U2, then you line up and prepare yourself to jump over the woll... READY, SET, GO!!! The tears stort flowing once over the woll and your not sure if they're because of happiness or sadness. The celebration continues omong you ond your friends as you scream ond hug. You are now one of Governor Dummer's most recent Alumni/ae as Life's Challenge Commences.

The Headmaster's Cup

She has taken each day as a gift and she has given back to the community of Governor Dummer at every juncture of her time in Byfield. Three years ago she came to Governor Dummer as a sophomore straight from a semester overseas in Australia under the sponsorship of the Youth for Understanding Program.

Determination and service characterized her Governor Dummer years. Determination earned a place on the Honor Roll after her first year of effort and earned respect from her teachers for tenacity and for learning. Determination allowed her to persevere in many acts of service: A tour guide in previous years she was head tour guide her senior year; she served in Special Olympics, as a Big Sister, on the Disciplinary Revlew Committee, with Project Reach Out, Walk For Hunger, and she has been a conscientious proctor in her dorm.

While joining so many activities in her senior year she took on the immense task of Editor-In-Chief of the Milestone, our yearbook. In this position she has tirelessly marshaled her coleagues and her class to meet deadlines. A faculty member captured the essence of the recipient with these words: "She has been an inspiration, because she appreciates her education. Through many challenges I have never seen her look or act frustrated. Her maturity is unusual; her calm manner and sensitivity to others is quite amazing." Clearly she takes full advantage of opportunities given to her and created by her. She leaves Governor Dummer a better place because of her many contributions

The Academy Prize

The intercom summoned him to the Vice Principal's office of Belvedere Junior High in Los Angeles on a Thursday in the fall of 1991. Once there, he was told that a place had opened up at Governor Dummer Academy. He could fly there on Saturday.

He began quietly, studying hard and slowly gaining friends initially in cross country, then at a particular breakfast table occupied every morning for the last four years, accompanied by the "Globe" sports page his last three years. His first year he joined "The Governor," our school newspaper, putting into print his deep interest in sports. A regular contributor to the paper, he came up through the ranks to be a conscientious and industrious Editor-In-Chief of this year's dynamic paper. Through this activity he was nurtured by the late Ed Rybicki and then by Scott and Becky Purdy. Although the paper formed the spine of his activity, he by no means walked a narrow path through his GDA years. During his last three years he occupied the honor roll taking a demanding program which included Honors Pre-Calculus, Accelerated Physics and Biology, AP Calculus and Post-War American History. His teachers describe him as "an exemplary student with his strong work ethic and commitment to learning," a student with "a very clear understanding of concepts and theories" and "written work which exhibits maturity and intelligence."

He was a dormitory proctor this year bringing his experience of adjustment to younger ones. He has been active in Pride, GDA's multicultural group. He has pursued the guitar, continued to run cross country, assisted in the Massachusetts Special Olympics Soccer Tournament, and this spring a special moment in his life occurred when he donned a varsity baseball uniform as a member of a strong team.

The Morse Flag

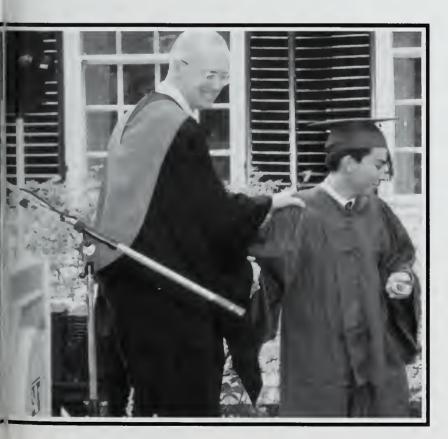

In the autumn of '91 she entered Governor Dummer as a ninth groder. She immediately established herself as a remarkable othlete, playing three varsity sports that first year. She went on to establish a standard of excellence in all aspects of Governor Dummer life. On Honor Roll her first year, she went on to ochieve highest honors in her remaining GDA years culminating in election to Cum Laude during the autumn of her senior year. Her superb performance included a demonding program which incorporated AP Calculus and Accelerated Biology during her senior year.

She ochieved academic success with an opproach which inspired discussion and inquiry. One teacher commented: "She was always moking inquiries that helped to stimulate some excellent dialogue among her peers." Another stated: "She adds a real spark to the class with her intellectual curiosity and active leadership."

Her community involvement included service os a tour guide then as head tour guide, four years as a member of SADD, including a presidency, four years of involvement in Speciol Olympics ond the head of the Coostal Chopter her senior year.

Her athletic accomplishments continued in three sports — a leading scorer in field hockey, coptoin of bosketball junior and senior years, MVP and winner of the Cooch's Award. MVP in lacrosse her junior year, second team ISL lacrosse goalie junior year and goalie for the league championship ISL team senior year.

The Thorndike Hilton Cup

The education of each of us in not a competitive enterprise, ofthough much in American culture today seems to teach our young that all things scholastic hove meaning understood only in the language of business, government or professional sport. Learning should be cherished as the fulfillment of human development. Through the presentation of this award, the faculty of Governor Dummer honors the intellectual growth and academic achievements of all its students. Any ranking scholar must embody diligence olong with intelligence. This student has begun to engage the world of ideas.

Not as woges of victory in competition but as an emblem for the scholarship to which we hope all students aspire, it is on honor to award, on behalf of the entire foculty, the Thorndike Hilton cup and Medal to

The Alumni Association Award

This year's recipient of the Alumni Association Award has attended GDA for four years and is a High Honor Roll student who excels at all of her academic pursuits. Her teachers comment that she is clearly one of the best prepared and most capable students. Mr. Rowe, her advisor, says that all of her teachers commend her effort and achievement, but he thinks more should be said about how much fun she is to each and how much she contributes in class. She is well-respected by her peers and by adults in the GDA community. Her contributions to GDA's varsity athletic teams are many. Since her sophomore year, she has been a member of three varsity teams: soccer, track, and basketball, her true love. Her other contributions to GDA life are numerous. She has been a member of Student Council for the past three years and has served as the day student representative. She is also a member of Red Key, a head tour guide, a member of the Disciplinary Committee, Special Olympics, the Social Committee, and SADD.

Laurie Anne Carrier

The Wilkie Service Award

This young woman spent many hours in the service of others in the communities surrounding Governor Dummer. She fully exemplifies the GDA motto Non Sibi Sed Aliis. Her selflessness is expressed in a variety of service activities in which she has been involved. She arrived here on campus in the middle of her junior year and immediately joined the Community Service Program. She volunteered to help tutor homeless children in the Partners in Progress Program at the Salisbury Memorial School. In addition to tutoring she worked with handicapped children at Windrush Farm where she assisted the instructors helping the children learn horseback riding skills.

Self-respect and concern for others characterize the career of this gracious student. Those who know him are in awe of his sensitivity in discussions, his work ethic and his serious approach to learning. One of his teachers commented, "My respect and admiration for him grows with each passing year. His quiet strength and sensitivity make him and mark him as a very special person." In every activity he brings maturity beyond his years.

While earning highest honors and membership in the Cum Laude Society he participated in three varsity sports — football, basketball and lacrosse.

The Edward J. Rybicki Prize

This year's recipient of the Rybicki Prize worked hard to plan, write, edit, lay out and revise 20 impressive issues of The Governor this year — even during exam weeks. Despite these responsibilities as Editor-In-Chief, he continued to grace us with his superior writing. He also showed the courage and the journalistic instincts to stand up for his staff, to print articles and columns that might ruffle feathers, and to solicit responses from the other side.

He is industrious, inquisitive and open-minded. But there's more to him than these admirable traits. He also is principled. He is constructively self-critical, he listens well. And he car, laugh.

Edward Guzman

Zeynep Guchan

James John Moulison

The Thespian Award

He began his GDA acting career as a freshman playing the county paris in Romeo & Juliet and ended it a few weeks ago playing the caterpillar in Alice in Wonderland. In Much Ado About Nothing his Benedict was beguiling. In Antigone his Kreon was frightening; and his Alan in Equus required a leap of faith.

She can belt a note and swing a tune that will give you chills and pop the roof off Thompson. As a junior she directed Blithe Spirit and staged it beautifully in the Phillips Library. She builds costumes. She has vision. She directed and played Rizzo in Grease. She has interned at the Williamstown Theatre Festival.

He starred in Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat

She starred in Anything Goes. On stage they make each other look good. Their departure leaves a huge silence.

The Gaffney Prize

With such dignity, such an unquenchable enthusiasm for learning and such goodness, she has won our hearts during her years with us. She is a member of the Cum Laude Society, a member of our Honor Society celebrating those who serve with distinction; she was a proctor in Farmhouse; she was Cocaptain of cross country and winner of the Coach's Award; she has been a member of the Jazz Band, Co-president of the Spanish Club, a member of Pride and has served Special Olympics.

She is a role model of what we want to be in our approach to challenges and to those around us.

Marisela Aguilera

The Mercer Art Prize

In the four years that he has been at Governor Dummer Academy he has immersed himself in the arts taking every course that was available, beginning with Introduction to Fine Arts his freshman year and ending his senior year in Independent Study where he prepared for Advanced Placement. His strong involvement in the arts made him the top candidate for this award. He is a true artist, a profound thinker and philosopher; his work is always involved with insights into the human condition. His work will make you think and reflect.

The Ambrose Speaking Contest

First Place

From the minute she arrived at Governor ummer, she has been the conscience of our ampus. Her knowledge and perspective on Jblic affairs remind us of what the poet Seaus Heaney tells us about a place he calls he Republic of Conscience." He says, "At eir inauguration, public leaders/ must swear uphold unwritten law and weep/ to atone r their presumption to hold office/ and to firm their faith that all life sprang/ from salt in ars which the sky-god wept/ after he dreamt s solitude was endless." She is a disciplined nd avid scholar. She has served in the Special lympics, the Chapel Committee and in the eater. Speaking with her and listening to her eak is to participate in a seminar of hope.

Second Place

She is a whirlwind of wonder, a cyclone of compassion, a torrent of talent. She skates hockey; she runs track and cross country; she plays soccer and writes music; she plays jazz; and she sings soul. Her energy, enthusiasm and amiability break down the walls between us. You caught a glimpse of her honesty and passion during the awards night as she talked about our Angel.

Lindsey Ellen Swallow

Third Place

She was a member of this year's championship lacrosse team. She earned nine varsity letters in her three years at the Academy. A disciplined and committed student, she is known for her moral courage and her eloquence. She has served on the Discipline Committee and Special Olympics. A powerful and emotional speaker (let us always remember Molly too), she presided over the awards ceremony with grace.

High Tea=FOOD! Mr. Robbins with son Todd and Orlando Velazco give a wave to the camera in between bites.

Another set of twins for the Class of 1995! Don't fret, it's just Deb Barry and Nicole Costello both having terrific taste in attire.

Not just a teacher and a dorm parent but a friend Dr. Bradley hangs out with fellow Inghamites Ben Ramsey and Raaid Alireza.

Taking down and preparing the Morse Flag to be awarded to a graduating Senior are Junior Red Key Members.

"Dad, almost there, just one more day to go!" Judy Sethna with her Dad.

Acting all prim and proper at High Tea are Mark Graves, Brian Crowe and Jackie Bean.

Some members' of the GREAT Class of 1995 last moments as G.D.A. students were spent barefoot.

A tradition at G.D.A. is for the graduating class to have breakfast in Mansion House on the morning of graduation. Sharing memories over breakfast are Caroline Scully, Jameson Case and Nicole Costello.

Delivering the Commencement address is Joan W. Welsh.

The GREAT Class of 1995 Rises to the Challenge of lining up in the correct order before the graduation march.

The Guys pile on top of each other for a photo in the Quad before Commencement ceremonies.

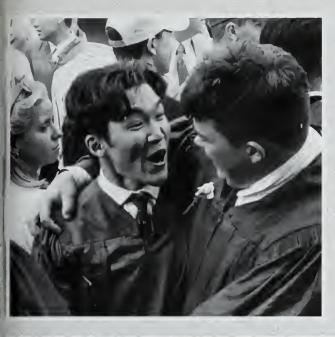

Best Friends Myrtlean Stockdale and Marisela Aguilera share a moment together before lining up for the Commencement march.

"Thanks Mr. Moonves, for everything!" Recent Alumni Chris Scully and Dave Kelmer shake hands with the infamous Moon.

In the mist of celebration, recent Alumni Henry Cho and Tim Gould share their excitement.

Following through on tradition, recent graduates jump over the Mansion House wall.

Lean On Me ., Senior friends pose together before their Commencement March.

Mrs. D'Orio is both a proud Mom and Trustee as she hands her son Brendt his diploma

After four years of hard work, Chandlee Gore is awarded her diploma from Board of Trustees President Dodge D. Morgan.

Blair Taylor has anxiously awaited this moment for four long years and finally it is here as Mr. Morgan presents her with a diploma.

It's not easy growing up in today's world. There are so many choices and new things to try, and there's so much pressure to do what all your friends are doing. That's why we're so proud of you for maintaining your individuality, for saying "no" even when it's not the popular thing to say. You're not a child anymore, and you're starting to take responsibility for your own actions and decisions. We know we can rely on your good judgment. We love you very much, and one of our greatest joys, will always be to see you healthy and happy. E. Allen

Editor's Notes

Rising to the Challenge is G.D.A.'s first theme yearbook and pr ducing it was a true challenge. Everything seems to be going ok until, the news of a new cover and Seniors only receiving half unit, the news of a new cover and seniors only receiving half page for dot dots seemed to be cause for an uproar within the community. As time passed and after speaking with several peple within the community, everyone seemed to be getting used the idea of a different type of yearbook. These were minor chillenges compared to the ones I was about to face.

First, I had to settle the Governor vs. Milestone War that son how evolved over the last several years. This was a prior because, they needed some things from us and we needed eve more from them. The peace treaty was draffed stating that it "Milestone will have access to all the Governor's picture negative and visa versa." The treaty was signed by both Ed Guzman and myself with Kate McCollough as the witness. Thus, the war is o cially over!!

In spring of 1994, I took a free term in yearbook and my who spring was consumed with working with the Class of 1994 to coplete their Senior pages. When I asked to be Editor for the 19 Millestone, the one thing I wanted to avoid was doing Senior page in the spring. As a result, Roli Backes and I decIded in October 1994 that February 2nd of 1995 would be a good time to ha them completed, which, In turn, was great because that we when the publisher wanted them too! We gave Instructions to the Seniors on how to do their page in late October. Mid-December was when I started my "announcement ritual" at morning mealings to remind the Senior class about doing their page; I was ho into that after Winter Break every Senior would be doing their page. ing that after Winter Break every Senior would be doing their pag Unfortunately, my plan did not take that promising route. Instead each Senior was busy with college applications and studying mid-terms. Although, there was the exception of the rare through actually did their pages before Semester Break Upon retuing from this break, there was only a week to go before the Sen deadline but, more importantly, the color section had to it mailed. I had yet to complete the color section when my bo decided to get sick. Luckily, for me Raald Alireza was around pick up where I left off. I remember drafting my ideas on scre paper in the health center for him to put onto final layout. I w pager in the neath center for him to put onto find layout. I we even helping some Senlors from my bedside with their page. that point, I realized that I was going to have to give the Senlors extension, so I gave them another ten days. It seemed like ter day was when everyone wanted to finish their pages. The Misstane room was too small for everyone to fit into, so, some Senic worked in the language audio lab and others, in the computer la Eventually, most everyone completed their page before Mark vacation and this satisfied the publishing company tool I only specularly and their pages. my spring chasing a handful of Seniors to complete their par instead of chasing the whole class. The Section Editors were the BESTI Although, we did have our f share of disagreements, we managed to work together and you efforts did not go unnoticed. I'm proud of all of you. Thanks i sticking to the job, and I'll never forget the individual personal quirks that were so much fun to work with. You guys are all terri friends and I have something to say to each of you ... Sung & Lou you both worked tirelessly all fall to collect the most advertising you both worked firelessly all fall to collect the most advertising ever for the Milestone. Louis, even if we did have a lot of disagreements you brought in the dough$$! I will admit sometimes you cright, even if you are too conservative. Sung, we never did make to Hodgie's. Please, stop begging for food and farting!! Roli & Or I'll never forget English 11 you guys made it interesting. What's nickname? "O.K. BOSS" Matt: Thanks for being the mediator at your help. I'll never forget your famous lines."Oh! I forgot."-"Wo suppose to do that?" Raaid: Miracles do occur because, this yew we agreed on layout!! Dedication we proceed about our daily business at Governor Dummer, a certain sense of mediocrity encompasses all of us, especially as busy schedules and numerous commitments preoccupy our attention. This seemingly mundane daily exercise often times distracts us from the important people in our lives, people to whom we should pay greater attention.

At the age of sixteen Angel Talavera had reached a commendable level of achievement and had left an indelible mark on the Governor Dummer community. As a scholarship student, he repeated his Freshman year in hopes of bettering himself, both intellectually and personally. He had come a long way from "hanging out" at the Lawrence Boys Club in Lawrence, Massachusetts, where he was adored by his peers. Angel infected everyone whom he contacted with his contagious spirit. Tenaciously, he grasped all of life's challenges, determined to overobstacles. Here at the Academy, he chanenergies onto the football field and wrestling "Angel infected

Just as the sudden loss of Angel Talavera made the community ponder life's fragile nature, another individual sustains us daily. As Director of the Food Service, David Weigel is a devoted and hard working man who truly loves providing excellent food and seeing happy consumers. He enjoys rising early to embrace day immediately. Though he loves the smell of the school environment and the sense of community here, what he cherishes most is to work and please people. Mr. Weigel is continuously striving for the best. When the food is not good, he suffers the most because he can do better. Whether it be placing fresh tables, carving turkey at Thanksgiving time or root beer floats, he is always adding an extra to the Governor Dummer community. CHALLENGE

The year has been packed full of challenges for the Governor Dummer community. One of the biggest was for the Board Of Trustees to vote on whether to or not to construct both a new Library and Math and Science Center. The next challenge was where to put the two new buildings; the solution was to move both Moody House and The Little Red Schoolhouse to different places on campus, and build one of the buildings in their place. Other challenges presented to the school community this year were putting an end to the misuse of the French Building and on-campus graffiti. Eventually, the treatment of the French Building improved with the establishment of rules by the whole student body. Unfortunately, the graffiti did not stop, but it was not as abundant by the end of the year.

Another year comes to a closing. You have survived all the challenges that were presented to you. There will be more obstacles that you will need to overcome in your future, but Governor Dummer has helped you to find the confidence within yourself to Rise to the Challenge.
